THE BOOK

In Rooted in the Kitchen, Jessica Sowards—beloved creator of Roots and Refuge Farm—invites you to rediscover the soul-nourishing rhythm of the seasons. From her South Carolina homestead, Jessica shares a collection of recipes designed to transform fresh, seasonal ingredients into comforting, wholesome meals.

From sunrise to sunset, Jessica guides you through a day of intentional, homegrown flavors. Start your morning with the rooster's crow and Southern Eggs Benny (With Perfectly Basted Eggs) or a rustic Farmhouse Frittata. For midday, enjoy a light plate of Chicken Salad prepared three ways—fruity, herby, or with a kick—or a warming bowl of Sausage and Kale Soup with Sweet Potatoes. When the sun sets, gather your hungry folks for a hearty meal of Chicken with Herbed Dumplings or a fragrant Garlicky White Bean Stew.

Beyond the main course, this cookbook offers essential chapters on from-scratch staples, larder preserves, seasonal sips, and decadent desserts. Rooted in the Kitchen provides everything you need for simple, satisfying weeknights, bringing the heartwarming essence of the farmhouse directly to your table.

Self-sufficiency at the End of the World

Grow, Generate & Build for an Uncertain Future

Ben Green

An urgent yet down-to-earth guide showing how anyone can take steps to achieve self-sufficiency in an era of climate breakdown

THE PITCH

- BREAKING NEW GROUND: a genuinely novel offering in the field of self-sufficiency: John Seymour for the doomer era, at a time when prepper/survivalist search terms have spiked +120% on the previous year
- NO BUNKER REQUIRED: full of practical advice, this book is aimed as much at grow-your-own beginners as committed off-griders
- TIMELINE APPROACH: the transition to self-sufficiency follows a 5-year plan, broken into achievable month-by-month and year-by-year stages
- UNBLINKERED OPTIMISM: author's practical expertise is leavened with a wry wit and zen philosophy that reveals how to face an anxious future with positivity

THE BOOK

One year to nutritional self-sufficiency. Six years to total self-sufficiency. Ten years to off-grid resilience – even if the end is nigh...

Climate breakdown is gathering pace and the way we live our lives will need to change. How do we grasp this new reality, take practical steps, and face the future with hope? By learning to garden as if the world is ending.

Ben Green took on a derelict former East German military barracks and in six years turned it into a laboratory for living a radically self-sufficient life. He has distilled everything he has learnt into a practical manual for how to thrive in troubling times.

With humour and humility, Ben demonstrates how everyone can strive to liberate themselves from reliance on global systems of food production and energy generation. And how facing up to the reality of climate breakdown need not be a counsel of despair, if we learn to embrace the "happy doomer" spirit. This is essential reading for all future humans.

THE AUTHOR

Ben Green has spent his life looking for somewhere quiet to think. To think about climate change, collapse, and gardening. After a brush with Green politics and a 15-year sabbatical of well-paid jobs in IT and media, he accidentally bought a crumbling military barracks in rural Germany. Here he has built a Radically Authentic life centred on self-sufficiency and deep conversations. Through his work on the Collapse Laboratory and his reader-loved newsletter, he spends his time exploring Happy Doomerism - the personal, political, and philosophical implications of climate breakdown.

Garden Diaries

A Year of Growth

Will Young

A story of growth from personal loss and depression to mental wellbeing, through gardening and nature

THE PITCH

- HIGH-PROFILE AUTHOR: Will Young is the original Pop Idol, a multi-platinum recording artist, Olivier-nominated actor, and Sunday Times bestselling author
- ENGAGING CONTENT: Will's "Garden Diaries" reels on his Instagram receive positive feedback with an engagement rate of over 4%
- PERSONAL ACCOUNT: Sunday Times bestselling gardening memoirs such as Caroline Quentin's Drawn to the Garden demonstrate the appetite for personal horticultural journeys
- MENTAL HEALTH: The benefits of gardening and time spent outside in nature for mental wellbeing are widely documented and backed up by science – Will is a recognised voice in the mental health sphere

THE BOOK

"I move down to the garden through the windy path and every time I sigh out. I may be feeling awful emotionally... but I always get a release of stress. I always sense a movement towards calm. Calm. It never fails to come."

A place for quiet contemplation, inspiration, and companionship: the garden is many things to Will Young. In his Garden Diaries, Will charts a year spent transforming the dauntingly large, wild space he has acquired and opens up about the feelings and memories it triggers along the way. From spells of anxiety and depression, to stories from his musical career, encounters with his neighbours, politicians, and celebrities, to the warm welcome he has found in the horticultural world.

Will shares how the garden is central to his life, how it grounds him and helps bolster his mental health. Told with disarming candour, humility, and plenty of good humour, Garden Diaries is a story of growth in every sense.

THE AUTHOR

Will Young has spent the last two decades at the forefront of pop after bursting onto the scene in 2002 as the original winner of Pop Idol. He has achieved four number 1 albums, four number 1 singles, two BRIT Awards, and 13 sold-out UK tours. An acclaimed author, Will published To Be a Gay Man (2021) and the Sunday Times bestseller Be Yourself and Happier (2022). He is a leading advocate for mental health awareness and LGBTQ+ rights, having served as the first Patron of Shout and hosted the podcast The Wellbeing Lab. A passionate animal welfare campaigner, Will co-founded Miraculous Meals, a dog food company donating 50% of its profits to rescue centres. He lives in Wiltshire with his three dogs Esme, Moses, and Domino, and is an enthusiastic gardener. In 2026, he debuted his first garden design at the RHS Wisley Flower Show and regularly shares his gardening journey through his Garden Diaries on Instagram.

Masking for It

A Queer Memoir

Theo Walker

Actor and comedian Theo Walker has spent his life wearing masks to be seen—by boys, casting directors, and anyone with eyes.

THE PITCH

- LARGE SOCIAL MEDIA PLATFORM: Theo has a dedicated and active fanbase and community of over 1.5M followers.
- COMING-OF-AGE MEMOIR: Theo weaves his narrative of self-discovery with a series of anecdotes from his life, from childhood to present day.
- HILARIOUS, SHARP VOICE: Theo's writing style is quick, self-mocking, and unexpectedly lyrical, capable of pivoting from comedy to poignancy without losing the reader.
- THE DARK SIDE OF SOCIAL MEDIA: Theo's memoir reveals what it's like to discover fame via social media, all the good that comes with it, and all the darkness that can arrive too.

THE BOOK

Growing up in rural England, Theo learned how to act straight to avoid being bullied in school. At home, during his parents' divorce, he mastered the art of seeming fine when he wasn't. As an actor, he became whoever other people needed him to be. And as he began to build a following on social media, he created an online persona that always knew what to say—and how to look. For years, these masks helped Theo survive. But what happens when the version of yourself you've been performing for so long becomes a prison?

When Theo's growing audience finally gives him the visibility he's always craved, an obsessive follower breaches the boundary between online admiration and real life. As the fallout escalates, a late ADHD diagnosis reframes a lifetime of masking, forcing Theo to confront the roles he's played for others—and the person he's been hiding from himself.

Hilarious, heartbreaking, and painfully honest, Masking for It is a coming-of-age memoir about queerness, neurodivergence, ambition, passing, people-pleasing, and the price of fame.

THE AUTHOR

Theo Walker is a British actor, writer, and content creator best known for ripping apart the English language, oversharing about ADHD, and making queer people feel seen. Theo studied acting at the Royal Central School of Speech and Drama, where he learned how to tell stories on stage before being rejected by enough casting directors, producers, and boys to fill a small theater. This led him to tell stories on social media instead. Since then, he's played lead roles in London theatres, written comedy scripts, original screen projects, and built an online audience of over 1.5 million people. Masking For It is his first book.

Good Weed Good Women

Voices from the Cannabis Revolution

Jasmine Mans

One of the first books from the women's cannabis movement, exploring the intersection of women, weed, and liberation.

THE PITCH

- AWARD-WINNING AUTHOR: Jasmine's poetry collection, Black Girl, Call Home (Berkley 2021) won a Stonewall Book Award and has sold 60K LTD (MyHouse)
- HIGH PROFILE CONTRIBUTORS: Brings together accomplished authors, artists, and advocates, including Barbara Blake Hannah, Ericka Hart, Dr. Riley Kirk, Dr. Mahogany Browne, and Mennlay Aggrey
- GROWING CANNABIS USE AMONG WOMEN: Reports indicate that 50% of young adults (18–34) use cannabis (Gallup, 2023); 1 in 3 women over 21 use cannabis (Forbes)
- BOLD, VISUAL EXPLORATION OF CANNABIS CULTURE: This stunning coffee table book includes original artwork, photography, infographics, and a striking, modern design
- STRATEGIC PUBLICATION DAY TIMING: April 20th (4/20) is an internationally recognized cannabis holiday, in the midst of the continuing legalization and decriminalization movement

THE BOOK

In one of the first books to emerge from the women's cannabis movement, award-winning writer Jasmine Mans assembles a fierce chorus of experts dismantling the narrative of harm perpetuated by the War on Drugs and sparking a feminist conversation around cannabis.

Through a series of provocative interviews and essays, Good Weed Good Women unpacks the complexities of cannabis culture and explores how women are reclaiming the plant for mental, financial, and spiritual freedom.

The book places cannabis in conversation with fibroids, breast milk, sex, PTSD, and Indigenous culture. From the historic significance of Rastafarian culture and the legacy of Rita Marley to the continuing fight for decriminalization and legalization, Good Weed Good Women tells the story of cannabis through the experiences of the advocates, scientists, and entrepreneurs reshaping the industry.

Boldly visual, provocative, and informative, this book is the defining women's narrative on cannabis culture.

Contributors include Barbara Blake Hannah, Zuri Marley, Donisha Prendergast, Jackie Bryant, Ericka Hart, Lindsey Carmela Romano, Jet Toomer, Mennlay Golokeh Aggrey, Vanessa Lavorato, Dr. Michele Ross, Dr. Junella Chin, Tara Eveland, and Mahogany Browne.

THE BOOK

A Capri Cruise Murder Mystery

On the annual voyage to Capri aboard The Grand Empress, Captain Calvin Cross witnessed a passenger being pushed overboard. Before he could reveal what he had seen, the captain became the next victim.

Now the captain's logbooks are your only evidence. Using nothing but logic and deduction:
• Follow 10 clues to narrow the field of suspects.
• Search the pages for 5 possible murder weapons.
• Uncover 5 locations that could conceal the crime scene.
• Find 3 hidden leads that connect the evidence.
• Determine who committed the two murders, how it was done, and where the murders took place.

Cross Out Club combines elimination logic with hidden-object discovery and layered deductions to decipher the killer, the weapon, and the crime scene within an immersive fictional setting.

One voyage. Two murders. One killer.

THE AUTHOR

- CLEAR, ACTIONABLE ROADMAP TO HEALING: Features over 30 techniques, from breathing exercises to journaling prompts, that have helped Caroline and her clients process trauma and change unhelpful behavioural patterns
- RESONANT: 35% of UK adults reported experiencing a major trauma in their lifetime in 2023/4, and globally, it's estimated that 50–70% of people will experience trauma (Sources: NHS; ptsduk.org)

THE BOOK

You can't quite remember when it started - the constant scanning, the tightening in your chest, the voice in your head rehearsing every conversation before you have it.

All you know is that it feels normal. Normal to anticipate disaster. Normal to hold your breath. Normal to keep yourself in check so you won't say or do the wrong thing. Isn't everyone hypervigilant nowadays?

Except, somewhere inside, you know it's not normal. You've built a life around coping; but what if survival mode - a brilliant adaptation that helped you once - is keeping you from a freer, lighter and truer you?

Protected is about finding your way out. Not by pretending your difficult emotions don't exist, but by recognizing them, tending to them and learning how to feel safe, free and happy in your own skin. Written with authority and care, and featuring gentle healing practices throughout, Protected helps you understand the language of trauma and rewire your nervous system to build safety from the inside out.

How to Spend a Life

Natalia Domagala

A provocative and deeply personal exploration of the way work has come to define human existence, and whether we can imagine something different.

THE PITCH

- PRESCIENT TOPIC: At a time artificial intelligence is about to have an unprecedented impact on the work landscape, AI ethicist Natalia Domagala blends philosophy, anthropology and economic critique, to ask: should life revolve around work – and if you could live your life differently, what would you do?
- EXPERT AUTHOR: Natalia Domagala is an award-winning AI ethics expert, helping organisations across the public, private, and third sectors navigate the ethical and effective use of AI
- RELATABLE PERSONAL STORY: Stems from the author's own experience of burnout, compelling her to question the meaning and purpose of work
- FOR READERS OF: Four Thousand Weeks by Oliver Burkeman, How to Do Nothing by Jenny Odell, Bullshit Jobs by David Graeber and Moral Ambition by Rutger Bregman

THE BOOK

Must life revolve around work? And what might happen if we no longer had to work at all...?

In the face of technological acceleration, mass automation and social change, the question of how we spend our lives – and who we are beyond what we do for a living – has never been more urgent. Blending anthropology, philosophy and economics with the author's personal experience of burnout and extensive expertise in artificial intelligence, How to Spend a Life asks the reader to see the systemic forces that quietly govern their days. And, by naming and understanding them, shows how they may finally reclaim the time, meaning, and agency to shape a life that is not merely productive, but genuinely their own.

Exposing the fracture lines in our labour market, How to Spend a Life is a provocative and deeply personal exploration of the way work has come to define human existence, ultimately begging the question: can we imagine something different?

THE AUTHOR

Natalia Domagala is an award-winning AI ethics expert, helping organisations across the public, private and third sectors navigate the ethical and effective use of AI. She has been recognised by Mozilla as one of the world's 25 visionaries making the Internet and the world a better place. # How a Little Becomes a Lot

The Art of Small Changes for a More Meaningful Life

Eric Zimmer

Combining first-hand experience and expert teaching, this book offers a tried and tested framework for creating changes that last

THE PITCH

- PODCAST PLATFORM: The author hosts a coaching and chart-topping podcast, The One You Feed (35M downloads since 2014), selected by Apple and Oprah magazine as one of the 'Best Podcasts of the Year'
- HABITS THAT MATTER: Draws on experience of coaching over 1000 individuals through The Habits that Matter programme and offers practical and accessible steps
- PROVEN TECHNIQUES: Brings together the author's research and experience to offer a framework to help you make the small changes that will make a big difference in your life
- POWERFUL PERSONAL STORY: Framed by the author's own inspiring journey of breaking free from addiction to drugs and alcohol

THE BOOK

Why do some of us change for the better while others seem to get stuck?

Behavioural coach Eric Zimmer has been asking himself this question for years and in this, his debut book, he shares how forming healthy habits is not enough – we need to cultivate wise habits to be applied day by day.

When Eric found himself homeless, addicted and facing prison in his 20s, he developed a system of small steps that began to lead him towards lasting health. Over time, he has refined these steps into a method that he has shared with thousands of people through his coaching and chart-topping podcast, The One You Feed.

How A Little Becomes A Lot brings together Eric's research and experience to offer a framework to help improve the lives of even those among us who feel stuck and cynical about whether change is even possible in the first place. Through four simple steps – Remember, Focus, Feel and Stick – this book helps you make the small changes that will make a big difference in your life.

THE AUTHOR

Eric Zimmer is an author, teacher, and speaker, and the creator of The One You Feed, an award-winning podcast with more than 75 million downloads. At 24, he was homeless, addicted to heroin, and facing prison. More than two decades into recovery, he speaks to organisations on adaptability and leadership, and through his coaching and workshops he has worked with thousands of people worldwide who want to stop fighting themselves and start moving forward. He lives in Atlanta, Georgia, with his partner Ginny.

Shameless

How to Find Freedom and Resilience Through Failure

Andrea McLean

An unflinchingly honest book to 'help you get back up again' from Sunday Times bestselling author and former host of Loose Women Andrea McLean

THE PITCH

- MUCH-LOVED AUTHOR: Andrea is the longest-serving panellist of ITV's Loose Women and a Sunday Times bestselling author
- UNTOLD STORY: A front-row seat to the fallout of Andrea's collapsing business, with life-changing lessons for the reader
- RETHINKING FAILURE: Success of podcasts like Elizabeth Day's How To Fail demonstrates readers' appetite for raw, relatable and compassionate content that reframe life's setbacks
- SUPPORTERS: Backed by scores of experts and celebrities including Jo Elvin, Denise Walsh and Owen O'Kane

THE BOOK

When Andrea McLean quit her high-profile TV job on Loose Women in front of millions, she didn't expect to soon fall flat on her face in front of them too.

With fearless honesty, Andrea lays everything bare – from financial ruin and broken marriages to cancel culture and toxic TV. Tracing her business collapse, she confesses the failures that once filled her with stomach-clenching shame and shares the lessons that taught her how to get back up.

Shameless is your guide to breaking free from shame and finding the courage to keep going through life's toughest moments.

THE AUTHOR

Andrea McLean is a Sunday Times bestselling author, presenter and speaker. She was the longest-serving host of ITV's popular and multi-award-winning daytime chat show Loose Women. A beloved figure in British television, Andrea brought her warmth and humour to the screen every lunchtime throughout her 24-year TV career, interviewing icons such as Oprah Winfrey, Beyoncé, and Michael Bublé. Andrea lives in Spain where she continues to write.

QUOTES

'You've not read a celebrity memoir like this. Andrea does not hold back in this powerful, honest account ... A liberating conversation we need to have about how personal feelings of shame can keep us isolated and alone and afraid' Jo Elvin, former editor-in-chief, Glamour and YOU magazines

'Andrea's unflinchingly honest book about her life imploding is like watching a reality show. Bailiffs, debt collectors, losing everything ... seeing how she turns shame into strength makes this impossible to put down' Denise Welch, actress and TV personality

Darwin's Journey

The Sea Voyage that Sparked the Theory of Evolution

Isabel Thomas

The extraordinary true story of how Charles Darwin came up with the theory of evolution

THE PITCH

- EXCITING SERIES The greatest moments in the history of science told as exciting adventure stories
- GRIPPING NARRATIVE Join young Charles Darwin on an epic sea journey to distant lands, braving volcanoes and earthquakes, to find the world's weirdest creatures and solve the greatest puzzle in nature
- ATMOSPHERIC ILLUSTRATIONS Bespoke illustrations will appeal to pre-teen readers, lending a moody, graphic-novel vibe
- SCIENCE EXPLANATIONS Light-touch diagrams explain the key points of science

THE BOOK

The sea journey that changed science forever

Twenty-two-year-old Charles Darwin isn't looking to start a revolution. He's just a young man with a notebook, a passion for beetles, and a knack for finding trouble. In 1831 he sets sail on HMS Beagle for a five-year journey of discovery. Braving massive earthquakes in the Andes, trekking through jungles, and coming face to face with the giant tortoises of the Galápagos, little does he know that this voyage will set him on a path to one of the greatest breakthroughs in the history of science.

As he collects strange fossils and studies the beaks of tiny birds, Charles begins to see a pattern – an idea that explains how every living thing on Earth is connected. It's an idea that will challenge everything that humanity believes about life on Earth.

History Year by Year

A Journey Through Time, from the Stone Age to the Digital Age

An updated visual guide to history for children - exploring everything from prehistoric life to our world today

THE PITCH

- STORY OF HISTORY: An illustrated timeline tells the story of history as inter-connected events, showing how the past has shaped the present
- BRAND NEW CONTENT: Brings history up to date with over 5% new content, including events such as the COVID-19 pandemic, and advances in tech and space exploration
- PROVEN SUCCESS: Previous editions of this title have sold over 28,000 copies in the UK alone (Nielsen Bookscan, 2026)
- FEATURE STORIES: "Child of the time" profiles explore the lives of children at different historical periods, including ancient Egypt, the Middle Ages, and World War II

THE BOOK

Travel through the ages, year by year, in this visual history for children that stretches from prehistoric times to the modern day.

In this updated volume, the timeline reaches 2025, documenting recent events, including the COVID-19 pandemic and new ventures into space. This unique book joins the dots of history by putting historic events across the world on one timeline, including prehistoric people, key civilizations (Ancient Egyptians, Ancient Greeks, Romans, Aztecs, and Incas), world exploration, the Industrial Revolution, the American Civil War, the world wars, and human travel to the Moon.

Every page is packed with pictures and original artefacts, to give a snapshot of an era. There are also features that explain major events, such as the rise of the Roman Empire, or the fall of Communism. "Child of the Time" stories explore the lives of children in history, from the tough training of a Spartan warrior to the lives of young pioneers on a wagon train heading west across America in the 20th century. A "Moment in Time" freeze-frames a particularly historic event, such as the first flight of the Wright Brothers.

DK's History Year by Year shows the influences, patterns, and connections between the events that have shaped our world and reveal the history of the world as never before.

THE BOOK

The third book in a funny, action-packed new 5+ graphic fiction series set in the world of LEGO® NINJAGO® Dragons Rising, starring brave young dragon Riyu!

Lloyd, the Green Ninja, has just wandered outside to find Arin, Sora, Cole, Kai and Riyu the dragon covered in noodles! It's pretty weird, but the story of how they found themselves in the middle of NOODLE CHAOS is even weirder.

In this next exciting RIYU the dragon adventure, Riyu and his friends are attacked by ice dragons in the middle of a Ninjago City noodle cook-off. This situation needs Ninja to save the day! But, as often happens, appearances can be deceiving and villains are not always who you expect. Especially when rare ice dragon eggs have been stolen!

Featuring full-colour art by Sam Filstrup and based on beloved LEGO Ninjago: Dragons Rising TV episodes, this series will delight fans of James Patrick Green's The InvestiGATORS, Jamie Smart's Max & Chaffy and Thomas Flinthams's Press Start.

Each book comes with an interactive surprise! Can you find the cheeky bowl of noodles hidden throughout the story?
